CERL Portal

Manuscripts and Early Printed Material

CERL Portal

- a cross-collection search utility for materials in manuscript collections (all time periods) and the European printed heritage (up to c. 1830)
- Functions as access point to source files
- Continous integration of new sources

Users of the CERL Portal

Bibliographic reference and access tool for

- users from areas of study that use manuscript material or printed material as sources
- Archivist
- (Manuscript) librarians

Contents of the CERL Portal

- Sources from
  - 23 institutions in
  - 12 European countries, Australia and the US.
- CERL members as well as others
- Developed and maintained by the Electronic Publishing Centre at the University Library of Uppsala

Distributed searching via either Z39.50 or OAI-PMH
→ data always very up-to-date
→ searching of Z39.50 sources slightly slower
→ fewer search options available

Access to the CERL Portal

- Freely available at http://www.cerl.org/web/en/resources/cerl_portal
- Provides further access to source files (most of them free, HPB as preview)

  They offer in addition:
  - Full bibliographic descriptions
  - Advanced search features
  - Digital images (in many cases)

The CERL Portal : Database information

MANUS, Mss. in Italian Libraries

Manus is the name of a database and of the Italian project developing descriptions and digital reproductions of manuscripts held by Italian libraries; at present about 130 libraries and research institutions are collaborating in the project, which is directed by 'Istituto Centrale per il Catalogo Unico e per le informazioni bibliografiche' (ICCU).

For a long time Manus has been working in many different local archives; at present (april 2008) the CERL Portal gives access to a new web based Manus application ('New Manus'), where full manuscript descriptions are realtime updated; ICCU is working to import all descriptions from the old to the new database.

Manus (51.000 records): http://manus.iccu.sbn.it/

'New Manus' (2.000 records; rapidly growing): http://193.206.221.40/manus/
